

Seeing the faraway look in her eyes, her mother said to her,

"Don't worry, Lillie, I bet he wants you as bad as you want him, and didn't he say he was asking his bosses about a house?"

"Yes," Lillie answered.

"Don't you think he has gotten an answer by now?" Catherine tried to comfort her daughter.

"Yes," Lillie answered, "but what is it?"

When two young people meet, sometimes it takes only one look, and they are in love; and to be apart can drive them to make fast decisions that will affect their whole lives...ah, such is young love.

This story is about a man named Shep, I'm not sure this is his Christian name but everybody calls him Shep. Shep has a horse named Beulah, we think she's called after an old girlfriend back East.

Now this old horse and Shep are a lot alike always getting into trouble of some kind, one good thing about Beulah is she's very fast. Shep is a pretty good shot unfortunately he's also good at getting shot at, he has four bullet scars, one arrow scar plus a little bit of his left ear shot off, he has reddish blond hair, blue eyes, six feet tall and one hundred eight pounds, plus a slight limp from being thrown by Beulah too many times. One good thing is when she throws him she won't run off, she is more apt to come back and bite him, they make a good pair in one respect they're both ornery.

Paper Towns

From the bestselling author of The Fault in our Stars, Quentin Jacobsen has always loved Margo Roth Spiegelman, for Margo (and her adventures) are the stuff of legend at their high school. So when she one day climbs through his window and summons him on an all-night road trip of revenge he cannot help but follow. But the next day Margo doesn't come to school and a week later she is still missing.

Quentin soon learns that there are clues in her disappearance . . . and they are for him. But as he gets deeper into the mystery - culminating in another awesome road trip across America - he becomes less sure of who and what he is looking for. Masterfully written by John Green, this is a thoughtful, insightful and hilarious coming-of-age story.
